Dear John,

25X1 The decision at the last ExCom meeting approving in principle the development of [REDACTED] provided you clear authority 25X1 to initiate a concept study of alternate designs and collection strategies to be sure that we select the most cost-effective approach for our future
[REDACTED]

As you proceed with this study, I assume you will be considering a number of different design options which will necessarily provide for somewhat different collection capabilities and involve different costs. Given other variables in the development of our collection strategies and our budget stringencies, I would like to ensure the most careful consideration of these options before commitment is made to a particular one. I therefore request that you consult closely with General Allen in the preparation of the concept study and keep appropriate members of my staff informed of the major design alternatives under consideration.

In addition, I would appreciate your giving the user community a full exposure to the results of the study when it is complete, and I would like to be briefed on the recommendations before commitment to a development program is made.

Sincerely,

SIGNED

W. E. Colby
